Some say importation jeopardizes consumer safety.

The TRUTH is...

No known scientific study demonstrates a threat of injury to patients importing medications with a prescription from industrialized countries.

What's more, millions of Americans have NO prescription drug coverage. Stopping importation of FDA-approved drugs threatens their safety.

A drug you can't afford is neither safe nor effective.

Some say the FDA lacks the resources to inspect mail orders.

The TRUTH is...

The FDA is focusing its inspection resources in the WRONG places.

Instead of stopping ILLEGAL drugs imported by illicit traffickers, the FDA concentrates on APPROVED drugs imported by LAW-ABIDING CITIZENS.

So far this year, the FDA detained 18 TIMES more packages coming from Canada than from Mexico. Last year, the FDA detained 90 TIMES more packages from Canada than Mexico.*

Worse, last year Congress appropriated $23 million for border enforcement, but the Secretary of Health and Human Services refused to use the funds.

Some say importation is merely an indirect way of enacting price controls.

---

“Importing prescription drugs to the United States will lower prices here and, in the long run, force Europe to pay more drug research and development costs. The best way to break down price controls is to open up markets.”

Some say a Medicare drug benefit will eliminate the need for importation.

Simply shifting high drug prices to the government only transfers the burden to American taxpayers.

Moreover, Medicare coverage won't help the millions of Americans without health insurance.
